A Frontiersman's Story.

A small boat passed down the river yesterday containing a man and his family, and what few worldly goods he saved from his western home, which was destroyed and broken up by the Indians. He landed at the foot of Main street to lay in a small stock of provisions, so that he could continue his journey a few days longer until he could reach friends, who reside near Cedar City.

To a Times reporter, whom he met, the man said: "My name is Frank R. Woodson, and that is my wife and child in the boat. We are endeavoring to reach our old home in Callaway county, and have made our journey in that craft from Fort Benton."

The man was middle-aged, tall, brown, and dressed in frontiersman style, carrying a rifle over his shoulder, and wearing his hair long, which was partially concealed by a broad-brimmed sombrero. His wife was younger in appearance, intelligent, and from her easy manner one would judge her to be well bred.

"How long since you left Missouri for the West?" asked the reporter, who had become interested.

"Ten years ago," was the prompt reply, "and I've seen but little of good luck since that day," he continued.

"Wife and I crossed the plains with a train, and settled on a ranch in Dakota, where we set to work to build up a home of our own. Our cabin erected, we left our friends and moved in. Times were prosperous for awhile. I raised some stock, and had a pleasant home. We rather enjoyed ourselves, even though we were hundreds of miles from our friends. There were Indians around us, and, being friendly with them and always extending them favors, I had no fear of them. But you can't trust an Indian. They are treacherous, and only wait until they are strong enough to overpower you."

"One day I left early in the morning to ride to a distant neighbor's house and did not return until late. I had fears on my way back that perhaps all was not right. The Indians had been troublesome north of us, and while with my friend I learned that an outbreak was anticipated. Imagine my fears when I approached home to hear several shots from rifles. I rode on rapidly until within sight, when I saw in a glance that my house was surrounded. The cowardly brutes were firing at the house, while from within my brave wife was protecting herself and child, having loaded my rifle and picking a redskin when she could get a chance. My presence was soon discovered and the fiends retreated. I ran the gauntlet and got inside. Then the attack was renewed. We fought them half through the night, when I discovered that they had set fire to the house. We were forced to flee, and while running for cover, behind a clump of bushes I received a bullet here," and he showed his listener a scar on the temple. "I fell, and rushing upon us my wife was seized and bound. I was left for dead. They camped so near me that I could hear them. My poor wife stretched upon the ground bound to a tree, until they finished their dance over their victim. My child was spared, but my wife suffered more than death. Throughout the night the fiends repeatedly outraged her, and I lay where I could hear her shrieks and piteous prayers for mercy. It was terrible I was half dead, my wound was bleeding freely and my strength all gone. Before day I managed to crawl into some bushes, where I became insensible. My wife was taken along with them, but was rescued the next day by a company of soldiers. They came in search of my dead body, as my wife supposed I had been killed. I had revived and with the refreshing water of a stream had washed my head and regained my consciousness. They found me in a burning fever, wild with the pain of the wound, and in a condition close upon death. But I was spared, and now we are going back to our old home. We are poor, but I am strong, and if my life is spared I shall return to have my vengeance on the devils who came so near sending me to the grave."

He told his story frankly, readily, and in a manner that could convince any one of its truthfulness. It is not more terrible than hundreds of others in the far west have experienced. The cruelty of an Indian is devilish. Returning to the boat, Woodson took the oars in his hands and rowed slowly away, the crew and craft making a sad picture as they passed down stream.—Kansas City Times.

Nevada Agriculture.

In agricultural pursuits Nevada has advanced very rapidly in the past few years. Thousands of acres of land which alone nurtured the gnarled sage brush and grease wood have been turned into blossoming areas and productive fields. There remain vast tracts of land that the dearth of water for irrigating renders useless. Farming by irrigation with water brought from a long distance is not as yet remunerative. In time it will be. Farmers are now, to some extent, utilizing the snow water of the mountain tops by means of reservoirs. The soil of all the valleys throughout the state, though saturated with alkali, is strong, rich, and yields abundantly the hardy cereals and vegetables. Irrigation by means of artesian wells is now being tried, and so far with gratifying results. Assuming the guarantees of science to be correct, this method, when fully developed, must be profitable and certain. The drawback to its general adoption is the high cost of materials and boring, it being necessary to sink the wells to a great depth in order to obtain water in sufficient quantities. There is no question but that large agricultural interests will be developed in the future of Nevada, with the advent of cheap transportation, lower wages and larger populations.—Corr. S. F. Post.

Legislators vs. Section Hands.

A railroad magnate has told Mr. Kent, a newspaper correspondent, that "the C. P. Company can control the Nevada Legislature easier than it controls its section hands." Now we propose to make a gallant fight right here against such an assertion. In the first place, Stephen Gage knows as well as we do that there have been Nevada legislators who held back for weeks in order to secure their own price for Senatorial malfeasance. He knows that in rare instances it has been necessary to prove that the Railroad Company was right, and everybody knows that votes find readier sale and more spirited bidders in Nevada than in any other State. Now it may be replied to this that the Legislature, having always been owned by some one, the fact of control is proven; but we submit that such a line of argument is begging the question. Of course we are not going to ruin a Faber No. 3 in trying to prove a Nevada legislator without price, but we shall labor to confine this question to the direct issue involved; i. e., between the legislators and the section hands, and although some degree of subtlety is needed in reasoning upon such fine distinctions, still we think we have the subject well in hand.

Now be it remembered that most of the section hands alluded to are Chinamen, and hence subject to the influence of rice and other amyloids. The highest price paid for the control of these creatures is $30 per month, or $360 per year, and yet history tells us that legislators have received this much for one vote. It may be argued that the legislator can be induced to do things from which a Chinaman would shrink, but we do not consider this as an issue in the original question, and knowing as we do the persistence with which law makers have labored to raise prices, we submit that our position is proven, viz: that it is harder to control a Nevada legislator than a section hand. The State press should take a stand upon this question, because, even admitting the force of the "railroad magnates" remark, every public journal, "irrespective of party," should condemn its public utterance.

"Mariner," the San Francisco Post's traveling correspondent, is bound to have Nevada labor under the Chinese evil right now, and for this purpose always speaks of it in his letters. He has watched the trains for weeks, he says, and has counted some thirty Mongolians each day, and from the tone of this seafaring correspondent we shall be wanting Federal aid in about ten days to protect our "altars and our fires."

San Francisco has not yet solved her water problem. The City Attorney has just informed the Supervisors that they must, in effect, purchase the Spring Valley water works. This poor water scheme has probably been forced upon the people in the interests of Democracy. A right good Democrat, you know, never uses water, and it is an accepted fact that any kind of whiskey is better than Spring Valley water.

There is a tradition to the effect that Henry Ward Beecher was once on trial for something, but the good people of Plymouth embraced and acquitted him long ago. He is now making arguments which put him on the same plane with Bob Ingersoll & Co. His salary ought to be raised if the Plymouth folks appreciate consistency.

The Central Pacific Railroad is one of those anomalies of progress which teach that good can come from evil—in the vista of the hereafter and with much tribulation. Oppressing in tariff, unscrupulous in action and boldly defiant, it stands a barrier to the forward march of Nevada. Instead of extending and utilizing the powers of the State, it weakens and absorbs them. Goods shipped from the East are taxed with through rates to Sacramento, and local freightage back to point of destination, although delivered en route. It is the power of legislation to correct the extortion.—S. F. Post.

Since when was it in the power of legislation?

The Sacramento Bee gives church-going people a point on hypocrites: A true christian is an honor to himself, his country, to humanity and his God, but an infidel or heathen is preferable to a hypocrite.

One Ford, lately addressed a meeting of workmen in San Francisco, and stated that he wanted "bread or blood," and in his subsequent remarks held out the impression that he would rather have blood. Ford also thought it might be well to hang D. O. Mills, and see how that would work. From which ingenious remarks we are driven to the conclusion that when idiots were first introduced special possibilities in the dunce sphere, and a double portion of leathery stupidity were reserved for Mr. Ford.

SITTING BULL'S WHEREABOUTS.—A Chicago dispatch of the 20th has the following:

The Times' Helena, Mont., special says: The Fort Benton Record of the 17th publishes the following: Father Genin arrived at the Marias River last night (Sunday) and sent a messenger to inform the military commander at Benton that Sitting Bull had crossed the line and was camped in the Bear Paw Mountain with a large force of Sioux and Nez Perces. A man named Valentine is supposed to have been killed.

Thomas Todd arrived from Fort Benton last evening and confirmed the above report. He also states that the Indians are burning the prairie south of the Bear Paw. Other parties report Sitting Bull on Miles battle ground, and that he has been joined by Lone Deer's band of seventy-five lodges.

TRAGEDY AT JETT DISTRICT.—The Belmont Courier reports a tragedy in Jett District, in which the actors were a squaw, a buck and a white man named James Griffin. The squaw kept house for Griffin, the buck went to the house and shot her. Griffin heard the report of the shot and hastened to the house where he found the squaw dying and the buck reloading his gun. He asked the Indian what he meant, and by way of reply the Indian raised his gun to take aim at Griffin, who grappled with the Indian and wrenched the gun from his hands, struck him with the butt end of it and killed him. Griffin then went to the nearest Justice of the Peace and surrendered. Of course it was justifiable homicide; every murder committed in that part of the State is justifiable, or at least declared to be so by the authorities.

BUTLER'S GRATITUDE.—The Chicago Journal's Washington correspondent says: The South Carolina Senate discussed the advisability of sending, to the United States Senate, the evidence taken by the investigating committee in the Patterson case; that it was stated that Senator Butler had informed his friends that it would be impossible for him, in view of his obligations to Senator Patterson, to present the report of the investigation committee to the Senate; and that therefore a resolution was passed to send the report to Vice-President Wheeler, with the request that he submit the same to the Senate.

AN ENGLISH OPINION.—This is from the Catholic Times of Liverpool: "France, with a population of thirty-six millions, has a circulating medium of eighteen hundred millions; while America, with a population of forty-five millions, has a circulating medium of only five hundred millions. Financiers say the prosperity of France, as compared with the present misery of America, is due to her more extended currency."

ALLISON ON THE SILVER BILL.—Chicago, December 20th.—Senator Allison was interviewed here yesterday. He regarded the Conkling-Gordon matter as a trifle which newspapers had exaggerated to a great affair. He believed the army would not be reduced and that the Silver Bill would certainly pass and become a law.

And now the Modoc mine, quoted yesterday at ninety cents, is to be investigated. The stockholders say that Modoc bullion is scattered all over the wharves in San Francisco, awaiting shipment, and yet they are asked to advance fifty cents per share in the form of an assessment.

It makes no difference to Stanford & Co. or their Republican allies what party may be in the ascendancy, for they well know they have the money and consequently the power to gather them all in, and so elect who they please to do their dirty work in the halls of Congress as well as in the Legislatures of the States of the Pacific coast.—Deacon Parkinson.

There is some objection in Sacramento because the Legislature has adjourned until January 3d; but an exchange thinks that the only dangerous period is to be found when the body is in session.

Several prominent Chicago men held a meeting Thursday evening to consider the feasibility of starting a mining exchange similar to those of San Francisco and New York, and a committee of five was appointed to report on the advisability of such steps.

BATTLE IN CUBA.—In a battle between Cuban insurgents and Spanish troops near Santa Spirit, the former lost 50 killed and 121 prisoners, while the regulars had 12 killed and 19 wounded.

The Chicago National Republican charges Secretary Sherman with injuring the public credit by going before the Committee on Appropriations and recommending that no appropriation be made to pay the just debts of the Government, audited and allowed by its proper officers.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Improvements.

We shall esteem it a favor if our rancher friends will keep us informed of the improvements which they are making or contemplating on their farms. This county is one day to become the wealthiest and most permanent portion of the State, and we would like to aid, by recording the steps taken, to secure that end. Farm improvement means permanent increase, and we are glad to know that the work is going forward vigorously. We notice a tendency to cut up the larger tracts of land, which we regard as a wise move. Alf. Hill has purchased from Wm. Perkins sixty acres of land at the Hickman Corners and erected a house thereon.

Robinson & Blanchard have erected a very large and substantial house upon their land purchased last Spring from Kinney.

J. D. Pollard seems to find the cultivation of a small tract profitable, and has also built a very neat farm house upon the land purchased from Stein. James Gault has sold fifty acres to some person whose name we have not learned, and another small tract to M. Gulling, who will build a house thereon in the Spring.

Louis Dean has purchased one hundred and twenty-five acres with water right from Vance, and in the Spring will also have a mansion for the comfort and protection of his old age. The drain ditches are all nearly completed and it is expected that through them the superfluous alkali will be removed from the soil. The increase in the hay crops has turned the attention of our farmers towards the plan of feeding out their crops upon the farm and we hope the practice may become general. The soil will be strengthened and the profit increased thereby. The exceptional Winter of the present year has lessened the demand for stock hay, but it is expected that next Spring will bring a lively market.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—We visited this afternoon the public schools, and were not pleased by the exceedingly light attendance of parents and friends. One of the Trustees was present, and although the exercises were of a very entertaining character, the scarcity of visitors detracted from the interest of the occasion. Songs, declamations, recitations and compositions were given after careful preparation and in a creditable manner. The best of order prevailed in the rooms which we visited, and it is to be regretted that more public interest was not manifested in the exercises. The attendance of pupils has been good during the past term.

FINE HOUSE.—It's no use of concealing the fact longer, the old bachelors are acting very queerly this Fall. They have evidently lost faith in their own professions, as shown by the number who have built fine houses. Here is Dan O'Conner, well known to everybody, who has just completed the finest house on Truckee Meadows. It is two stories in height, white as milk and commodious in every part. Dan always was a comfort-loving soul, and has finished everything in the best of style. Were we an unmarried lady we should "scoop him" next Leap Year—the house too, of course.

GOING AWAY.—Hon. C. H. Eastman and family leave Reno to-night for Oakland, Cal., where their home will in future be located. Mr. Eastman is an old pioneer of Washoe county, and has ever been an efficient and honorable member of the community. So uniform, indeed, has his good influence been during the years past that other counties in this State have long since recognized in him one of Nevada's best citizens. We sincerely regret the loss of Mr. Eastman and family from among us, but cheerfully wish them all happiness and prosperity in the new home.

CORRECTION.—The police court records were locked up yesterday and we could not gain access to them to learn the name of the wounded man who had his throat cut. The records have been inspected now, but no one can read Cain's hieroglyphics, and hence the Justice does not know the name. It is not Brotherton, at any rate, as we were informed by three vicious persons yesterday, but Hugennum, Hugenbaum, or something like that.

The Sacramento Bee thinks Deacon Parkinson should give up the pen and hire a pulpit.

Meat Shipping.

The Winnemucca Silver State has the following to say in its issue of Thursday regarding the success of the venture made at that point by our townsman Alvaro Evans:

Alvaro Evans, who went to Chicago from this place with 40,000 pounds of beef in refrigerator cars, returned on yesterday's train. He informs us that the meat reached Chicago in prime condition, having been on the road 11 days, including a delay of one day at Omaha. The meat sold readily in Chicago at rates which proved remunerative at the prices paid for cattle here at the time of the shipment. Since then, California butchers have sent agents to this part of the country who are paying a much higher price for beef than it has commanded before for years, so that for the present, at least, it is unnecessary to ship it east, as the price at which it can be sold here is as profitable to cattle men as that which can be obtained in Chicago. The experiment has proved successful and the fact has been demonstrated that the stock raisers of Nevada are no longer at the mercy of San Francisco butchers. At any time when the latter refuse to pay a fair price for Nevada beef, the meat shipping business can be resumed. Messrs. Evans & Co. have insured to cattlemen in Northern Nevada, Idaho and Oregon, who ship from this point, a fair price at all times for their fat cattle. They will probably ship a few car loads of dressed beef to San Francisco next week, and whenever there is a break in the market that reduces the price of beef here, they will resume shipping to the East.

It will be seen from the above that there are some points in the meat shipping business which commend themselves to the consideration of men who wish to control the market. The Reno depot is now in successful operation and the fact that such opposition as above mentioned has commenced this early goes far towards proving the permanence of the meat shipping interest. When the project was first discussed the beef monopolies in San Francisco warned retail dealers against patronizing it. It seems, however, that the warning was unheeded, and the enterprise thus successfully commenced is to secure lower rates for the consumer and fairer profits for the producer.

That Volley at the Marshal.

We learn to-day that there is probably a large amount of truth and but a modicum of poetry in the reported adventure of Marshal Ash at Pyramid Lake, after all. Mr. Ash was at the lake in person. He united with the Indian Agent in patting that the facts were substantially as related at first. So much impressed was the Marshal, indeed, that he declared himself unable, with his ordinary force, to remove the depredators from the Reservation. Advice was taken upon this point, and a telegram sent to Washington, saying that the Marshal had been fired upon, and found his force insufficient for the enforcement of the law. Marshal Ash and Agent Barnes could not certainly be mistaken in their statement, and hence we conclude that there was certainly an assault such as described, and we expect to hear more of it. The adventure, as described, might have taken place as described without Mr. Reed's knowledge, and we believe that the gentleman was entirely honest in his belief as stated yesterday. It takes something more than mince pie however to send telegrams to Washington asking aid.

HIS WHEREABOUTS.—Considerable curiosity and some apprehension has been excited by the absence of Dick Hymers from our streets, and at the request of many of his friends, we enquired for him the other day. No response was received which shed any light upon the matter, and foul play was suspected. This morning, however the following dispatch was received:

KALAMAZOO, DEC. 21, 77.

Editor Gazette. Please go around and let Dick out of the woodshed.

T. K. Hymers.

10, Collect, $2 50.

"RUSTLE THE COPS."—Yesterday on train No. 6, Louis Bevier, Jack Page and a legion of Wadsworth folks made the landing at the metropolis of Reno. Before they arrived however, J. V. Lewis, deputy Sheriff at Wadsworth, took care that the following dispatch should be in the hands of constable Barlow:

"Rustle the Cops. Mob coming on No. 6. Fix sweat box."

It cost the visitors seven bits apiece to satisfy the peace officers of their intentions.

Jottings.

C. C. Powning is at "the bay."

Book, the "tootist," is in Eureka.

James E. Dealey has returned to his home in Carson.

Yesterday was examination day at Mount St. Mary's Academy.

Vacation in the public school after to-day.

Scott, the "soireist," is going to visit Oreana.

Geo. Wilson is now the owner of the Eastman farm.

R. P. M. Kelley is on the Comstock.

Local items is expected to put in an appearance about Monday next.

W. J. Marsh's residence on the hill is at last about completed and is a model of elegance and comfort.

Mrs. J. B. Williams returned last evening from an extended visit to Virginia City.

The Weekly Gazette is issued this evening. Over 40 columns of reading matter.

Hon. J. P. Jones, has sent us a copy of Ewing's speech on resumption.

Sage hen, prairie chicken, deer and mountain trout appear upon the Surprise Valley bill of fare.

The locomotive firemen's ball at Wadsworth on New Year's Eve, will be the event of the season.

W. J. Marsh informs the thief who stole his harness that he forgot the breast straps. Call and get them.

Our patrons are informed that we receive payments during the Winter season as well as any other time.

Don't forget the Firemen's Ball on Christmas night. Washoe No. 2 is deserving.

Captain Tuttle, an old Arctic explorer who visited us recently, lectures in Virginia City to-night.

L. T. Fox has been appointed Major General of the First Division of Nevada Militia, Vice John B. Winters, gone west.

The citizens of Carson have organized a joint stock chicken and turkey association, and the Tribune thinks they are awakening to their own interests.

Brookins & Co. really have the finest assortment of toys, and Yankee notions ever brought to the county. Give him a call and make the little ones happy during the Merry Christmas tide.

The California Meat Shipping Company will ship from Reno to-morrow their second shipment of two carloads, and we are assured that abundant orders are awaiting attention.

The advance herald of Howorth's Hibernica has arrived, and elegant colored pictures of Barney and Kitty ornament the dead walls. They will be here about Dec. 28.

MT. ST. MARY'S ACADEMY.—This institution, probably the youngest educational structure in the State held its Winter examination yesterday, and surprised the visitors by the progress made in the past few months. We were invited to be present but were unable to attend. We learn, however, from some parents who were interested in the school that the advancement resulting from the first term of this school was quite noteworthy, and beyond the average. We hope to make many more reports of the same flattering character.

TURKEYS.—Hyde Bro's. are prepared with the fowls for Christmas Day, and any one who thinks his eyesight will furnish him with Christmas meat, should go around and try it. Fat turkeys and Spring chickens. Read the advertisement.

ROLL OF HONOR.—The following is the roll of honor at the School for Girls, for the month ending Dec. 19, 1877: Mary Grippen, 97.5; Lizzie Miller, 97.5; Mary Hornback, 97; Jessie Kirkpatrick, 95.2; Mary Rogers, 95.

Parkinson of the Tribune has invented a neat but not gaudy telephone. The apparatus is simple and consists of two oyster cans, one hundred feet apart and united by a smooth string. A fool at each end completes the machine.

The fathers of Gold Hill girls are already beginning to wonder how the deuce they can fill their daughters' stockings without filing a petition in bankruptcy directly afterward.

ARRESTED.—Mabel Gray was arrested this morning for being drunk and using indecent language upon our streets.

Yield of the Nevada Mines for the Fiscal Year 1876-77.

The report of the Director of the Mint for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1877, just submitted to Congress, contains a statement of the yield of the various mines in Nevada for the same year. The list contains 193 claims. The products by counties may be summarized as follows:

HEARTRENDING ACCIDENT.—On Friday of last week an accident occurred at Howland Flat, resulting in the death of Miss Mary Jane Coker, aged sixteen years. The deceased, in company with another young lady, Miss Callahan, were amusing themselves by sliding on the ice in a large reservoir belonging to Mr. Chittenden. Miss Callahan got on a bad piece of ice and went through, the water being some ten or twelve feet deep. Miss Coker went to her assistance and had pulled her out when the ice gave way under her and she went down. Two little boys who were on the pond got hold of Miss Callahan and held her until their screams attracted the attention of a man who managed to get her out. During this time Miss Coker had disappeared under the ice, and the water had to be drawn from the reservoir before her body could be recovered. Her death cast a gloom over the whole community in which she lived, as she was a bright, intelligent girl, known and loved by everyone. Her remains were followed to the grave by nearly every person in that section, and her bereaved parents have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community.—Plumas National, Dec. 15th.
